U. S. Fleet Hands Japs Four Severe Blows In 4 Days

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 13.—Powerful American carrier forces destroyed 221 Japanese planes, sank 16 ships and damaged 19 at Formosa in the fourth successive powerful blow at Japan's inner defense line, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

This was the first confirmation of Tokyo radio reports that a thousand planes had raided the island blockading the approach to the China coast.

The mighty strike Wednesday (U. S. time) only 575 miles south of Japan proper climaxed a series of attacks on the Philippines, Formosa, the Ryukyus and Marcus within four days.

(Tokyo radio reported the punishing blows were carried into the fifth day when carrier planes returned to Formosa Thursday (U. S. time).

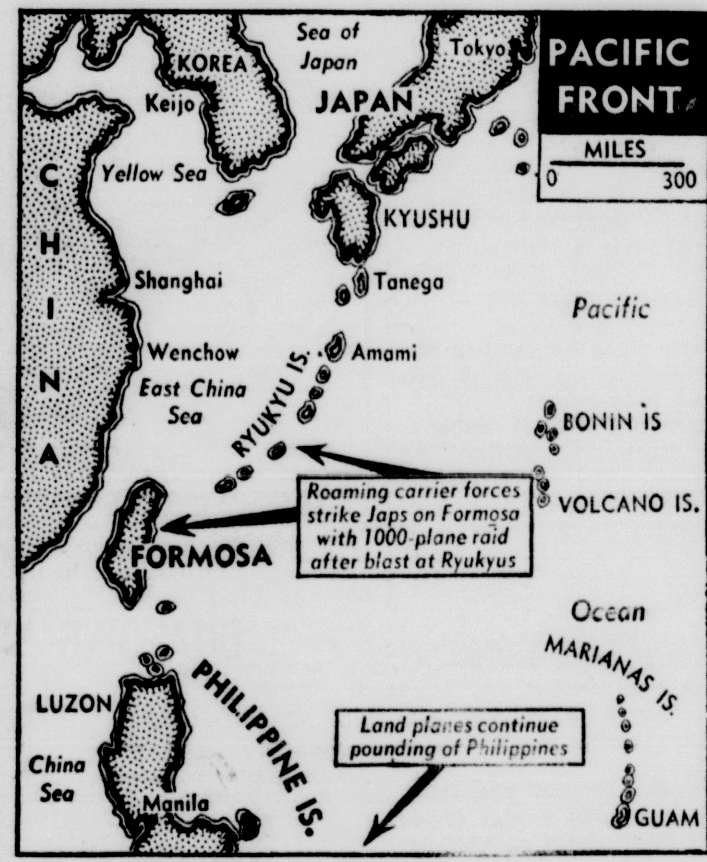

Score Is Shown
Without identifying the harbors where Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier planes discovered Japanese shipping, Admiral Nimitz reported this score:

Ships sunk:
Two large cargo
Two medium cargo
Twelve small cargo.

Ships damaged:
Two large cargo
Seven medium cargo.

Less than 221 airplanes was a severe blow to Japanese defenses but comparative smallness of the number once again emphasizes how pinched the enemy apparently is for airpower.

Formosa is one of the largest islands on the Pacific—about 100 miles long and 30 miles wide. It is the base for the Japanese fleet in the Pacific. The fact that only 23 U. S. aircraft were downed is the strongest possible evidence that the enemy could have sent comparatively few more interceptors than Mitscher's pilots destroyed.

The thousand-plane attack on 250-by-100-mile Formosa, Japan's largest naval base outside home waters, probably is a preparation for invasion of the already bomb-battered Philippines. Neutralization of Formosa and the Ryukyus Islands, the latter bombed for the first time a few days ago, also would eliminate Jap bases from which to push their China offensive.

Factory Area Taken; Nazis Fighting Back

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 13.—A famous American infantry division fought its way today into Aachen proper, once the proud capital of Charlemagne but now a smoking hulk of old ruins, after capturing all the suburban Schlachhof factory district on the northeastern outskirts.

The Germans wheeled up reinforcements, including one of their finest tank divisions, in a last-minute attempt to save the great frontier city of 165,000. The enemy counter-attacked heavily at Bardenberg.

Opposition was surprisingly weak as the doughboys entered the city, which had been bombed and blasted for two days by hundreds of dive-bombers and an almost solid ring of heavy artillery plunging shells by the thousands into its ancient structures.

The Americans entered the city itself at 9:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m. Eastern War time) along a path blasted by artillery and mortars. The Yankees gingerly crossed 16 rows of tracks and started routing out dirty and bearded Germans holed up in the narrow streets which were cluttered with debris. The fighting was at close quarters, sometimes with bayonets, sometimes with small arms, and it went from house to house, from street to street. Self-propelled artillery moved into the city with the infantry.

The Americans fought near fires in many parts of the old city.

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie

HERE'S A NEW CRISIS to watch: The effort of a strong Spanish Republican movement to start a rebellion against Generalissimo Franco and re-establish the republic which he overthrew in 1933 in one of the bloodiest civil wars of history.

It's significant that the Moscow press has been urging Spaniards to revolt against Franco. During the civil war Russia supported the Republican government, which included strong Communist elements. Franco had the heavy backing of both Germany and Italy, and it's the German retreat from the Spanish borders in face of the Allied invasion of France that encourages the Republicans to strike.

Working of the anti-Franco ferment has been apparent for a long time. The latest development came yesterday when the Toulouse (France) radio stated that the "supreme junta of the Spanish National Union" (an organization set up by exiled Republicans in France to oppose Franco) had called on patriots and Spaniards to rise.

These Spanish exiles are reported to total 40,000 in southern France. Units of the organization have been raiding Spanish territory for 10 days or more, and on Oct. 6 it was reported that there had been a clash between the raiders and a Spanish garrison.

Should a revolt eventuate, the circumstances will be far different than in the last upheaval. Then Hitler and Mussolini not only provided Franco with great quantities of war supplies, but with large numbers of fighting men. The Republican government, on the other hand, has been hard pressed to find resources. It received its chief foreign aid from Russia, and communications between the two countries for movement of supplies was extremely difficult.

NEW CARS LIKELY TO BE RATIONED WHEN THEY APPEAR

(By James Marlow)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Who gets the first new cars when Germany quits? And how soon? The price? Will they be rationed? And what will they look like?

The honest answer is: At this time no one seems to know the answer except to the last question: What will they look like?

There is pretty general agreement that the first of the new cars—except for some appearance changes like a new hood line or a new angle to the windshield—will look pretty much like the pre-war cars.

When will the first post-war cars start rolling?

Even on this automobile men do not agree. Their estimates range from 90 days to six or eight months after Germany folds. A good guess is: Four months after Germany folds.

Why should it take that long?

The auto industry will have to convert from war to peace production. That takes time: New machines, and so on.

How many cars are there now?

About 23 million. Four million less at the time of Pearl Harbor. There are only 19,000 new cars left, unsold, and being sold.

Rationing Is Likely

Will the new post-war cars be rationed?

Automobile men here say they "suspect" they will be. The government has announced no decision. They would there be rationing at all?

The first demand for new cars will be tremendous. One government man explained: "Should the new car go to a guy who slips a Turn to NEW CARS, Page 7

NEED FOR BLOOD DONORS IS URGENT

Not a Single Volunteer Signed Up Thursday, Officials Point Out

For the first time since the blood donor service was established in Salem, a registration day for donors passed Thursday without a single volunteer.

A number of donors are needed for Monday and more than 100 on Tuesday, when donations will be made at the Presbyterian church headquarters of the mobile unit.

Donating blood for the armed services is a simple process, freed from pain or discomfort for the donor. Actual donation takes less than 10 minutes. The entire process, from registration, simple medical examination, donation and rest to refreshments, takes only about 45 minutes.

A continuous supply of donors is vitally important to the men at the front who are undergoing more than discomfort and giving more than 45 minutes of their lives for their loved ones.

Every adult in good physical health can give a pint of blood without harming himself in any way. With the need so urgent, Red Cross donor officials ask the cooperation of every group and individual.

Volunteers may call headquarters 4500 from 1 to 9 p. m. or 4949, any time before Monday.

BOY SCOUT GROUP WILL MEET TUESDAY

A meeting of the committee for the Northern District, Boy Scouts of America, Columbia council, will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Ohio Edison building on E. State st., it was announced today.

Annual reports will be heard and election of officers held.

WANTED, AT ONCE!
POTATO PICKERS, STARTING SATURDAY MORNING. GOOD WAGES, AT THE E. W. REA FARM, SALEM-LIBSON RD. PHONE 5736.

LABOR SHORTAGE FORCES SHUTDOWN OF KEENER PLANT

Manpower shortages at a time when seasonal employment must necessarily be high today forced the Keener Foods dehydration plant on Elm st.

The factory, which started operations Sept. 20 to process much of the excess dried apple crop, has been employing 174 men and women, including office workers who have been giving part-time assistance.

Despite volunteers and the efforts of the U. S. Employment office to divert more help to the Keener plant, the establishment has been able to operate at only 30 per cent of capacity. Although set up to handle between 3,300 and 3,500 bushels of apples a day, the highest single day was 800 bushels.

A statement by George Perrault, company personnel director, said:

"The management of the Keener food plant finds that, due to conditions beyond our control, it becomes necessary to close down."

"After exhausting all possibilities with the untiring assistance of local labor recruiting agencies and the WMC and following a Washington announcement that outside help would be unavailable for some time to come, there remained no alternative but to shut down."

STRIKE AT TRUSCON PLANT ENDS TODAY

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 13.—A two-day strike of 2,000 employees of Truscon Steel Co. ended this morning with 7 a. m.

The men, members of United Steelworkers of America local 2334 (CIO) voted Thursday night to return to work today. Union leaders said the men, employed in making tank treads, LST and Seabee hotel boats. Walked out in protest over a wage incentive which company officials had declared as "unauthorized," but said the men had just grievances.

Russell L. Thomas, district representative for the union, said Sam Young, U. S. Department of Labor conciliator, agreed that an industrial engineer from the War Production board would come here and study the wage incentive system used at the plant.

Alter Taxi Operation

CANTON, Oct. 13.—The Regional War Labor board ordered an end to the commission rate of pay under which taxicab drivers work for the city's two cab companies. Fifty-five drivers are involved.

The board directed the companies to resume a former system of operation under which drivers paid a rental fee for use of the cabs, furnished their own gasoline and kept all receipts.

Public Urged To Avail Itself Of Chest Clinic Service Here

The first mass chest x-ray to be held in Salem will be conducted here Oct. 26-27 in a drive to bring to the public mind the knowledge that tuberculosis, when discovered early, is curable.

"Be Sure You're Safe" is the slogan of the campaign which is sponsored by the Columbiana County Public Health league, and financed by the sale of Christmas seals.

Emphasizing the importance of early diagnosis, the survey will offer to anyone interested the opportunity to have a free chest x-ray. The only sure means of determining whether a person has tuberculosis.

Similar projects have been carried out in larger cities, by large companies for the welfare of their workers, and in certain other groups. In Salem the C. B. Hunt & Son, Columbia Lamp Works, employees and workers of other plants have arranged to avail themselves of the survey service.

Results Confidential

League officials point out that many apparently healthy people actually are tuberculosis sufferers who could be cured if given early treatment. The present-day pressure of war and industry are making greater calls on the health of the nation's workers, who are not taking proper care to combat the "white plague."

Results of the x-rays are completely confidential, notification being made by mail, and positive identification of each x-ray with the subject is assured by photographing the subject's name, address and number on the x-ray film at the time the picture is made.

Use of the service is particularly recommended for food handlers, domestic employees, defense and war workers, nurses and nurses aides, school personnel, students, expectant mothers and office workers.

The x-rays are given with complete privacy by the National X-Ray Surveys staff of trained technicians, who, with their completely modern, intricate equipment, can take 100 pictures an hour.

Employers are urging their workers to take advantage of the free service which will be given as a public health measure.

Headquarters for the survey will be established in the Ohio Edison building. A complete schedule will be announced for the three days which will be given over largely to workers of plants and offices. One evening period from 5 to 9 p. m. will be held open for those unable to have pictures made during the day.

WAR TRAGEDY STRIKES AGAIN

Pvt. Earl Trimmer Missing In Action; Brother, Stanton, Killed

Tragedy struck the home of Mrs. Anna White, 877 Granite st., for the second time within a week today as the Salem mother learned that her son, Pvt. Earl A. Trimmer, 19, an infantryman in France, is missing in action.

The news of the second war casualty came today, just three days after the War department had notified Mrs. White that another son, Pfc. Stanton Trimmer, 23, was killed in action in France Sept. 15.

The War department telegram stated that Pvt. Trimmer had been missing in action since Sept. 24. A letter from the Salem soldier was received recently, dated Sept. 18. No word from him has been received since then.

A former employee of the Salem China Co., Pvt. Trimmer attended Goshen township and Salem public schools, graduating from high school in 1942. He was inducted into the army on July 5, 1943 and trained at Camp Shelby, Miss. He was sent overseas in July and had been with invasion forces in France since that time.

Superstitious? It's Friday, 13th, Again

By ED CREACH
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Of course, it's just superstition that Friday, or the 13th of the month, or Friday the 13th, is unlucky.

It's just an old wheeze like "Friday's a dry day" or—

Hmm. Come to think of it, the country did go dry, or at least the 18th amendment went into effect, on a Friday.

Pure coincidence, of course.

Maybe Friday wasn't lucky, either, for Solomon Grundy—"born on Monday, buried on Friday"—or for the speculators who lost their bibs and tuckers in Wall Street's "Black Friday."

But what does that prove about the 13th?

Well, the record shows that an earthquake in Ecuador killed 200 on May 13, 1942, and a mine disaster at Cherry, Ill., claimed 259 lives on Nov. 13, 1909.

It was on Dec. 13, 1941, that Hungary and Bulgaria declared war on the United States—an unlucky day for Hungary and Bulgaria—and on May 13, 1940, that the Netherlands forces capitulated to the Germans.

The first blood of the American revolution was shed at Westminister, Vt., on March 13, 1775, and the United States declared war on Mexico on May 13, 1846. Long before the 13th amendment abolished slavery, 13 slaves were put to death in New York.

All coincidences, of course, with no more meaning than the old Pennsylvania Dutch belief that fairies invade your house on Fridays. They won't hurt you if you say, "A blessing attend their departing and traveling; this day is Friday and they will not hear us."

Nobody believes in that sort of thing nowadays, but this being Friday the 13th, and just to be on the safe side, shall we repeat in chorus: "A blessing attend..."

2 PLATES ON YOUR CAR AGAIN IN 1946

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—Ohio motorists will have to wait until 1946 to affix two license plates to their automobiles despite a War Production board order releasing metal for two tags this year.

Harold Culbert, assistant registrar of the bureau of motor vehicles, said today:

"The 1946 plates already are in production and mailing cartons have been manufactured to carry just one plate." Culbert explained. "The WPB order will not affect us this year but two tags will be available for cars April 1, 1946."

Ohio automobiles have not worn two tags since 1942.

Culbert said production of this year's 2,200,000 Ohio plates was almost completed at the state penitentiary. They will carry dark blue letters on a white background.

One Man's Decision

The War Labor board has jurisdiction over all industry and all labor, all labor disputes and wage problems—but no power of decision other than that derived from Franklin D. Roosevelt. Being realists, a majority of its members have conceded their helplessness and abandoned the "little steel" case.

WLB, voting according to the pattern of impotency created by dividing it equally among members who must vote for labor, members who must vote for management and public members who hardly would dare to make any broad exercise of the balance of power they hold, has turned over the "little steel" decision to the one man who ultimately would make the decision anyway. Labor members dissented, but they, too, know about the impotency.

Mr. Roosevelt's decision is problematic. Whatever he does, he will win favor and lose some favor. It may be he will do nothing for as long a time as possible, remembering that if his decision finally is favorable a little more delay won't matter, because the decision will be retroactive.

This is the ultimate practice of personal government—a situation in which the interests of every man who works for wages, every employer and, in a very real sense, due to the bearing on inflation, the interests of every American lie wholly in the hands and judgment of one man. This has happened a few weeks before a national election. It is exactly what we have been warned against if the trend toward personal government continued. Whether Mr. Roosevelt saw it coming, or didn't want to see it coming, he is now the economic dictator of the United States.

Speaking of Friendship

It is heartening to hear about the manifestations of friendship in the meeting between Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and Ambassador Harriman in Moscow. But more conclusive evidence of friendship is to be found in less prominent places.

In this war a great many Americans have learned by first-hand experience that the prototype of all Russians is not a wild-eyed revolutionist with a bomb. Perhaps before it is over a great many Russians will have learned that Americans do not all oppress the poor and make exorbitant profit from exploiting the working class. These are simple discoveries, as simple as the discovery by United States soldiers that some Germans are decent, kindly people, but they are tremendously important.

Public officials can simulate friendship; that is one of the arts of diplomacy. But between peoples, friendship must be genuine. There was no real friendship between Russians and Germans when Von Ribbentrop was being well received in Moscow in 1939, just as there was no real friendship between Germans and Britons when Chamberlain was being courteously received by Hitler in 1938. There was courtesy, but no friendship when the last Japanese mission was being courteously received in Washington.

If, as one result of this war, great numbers of Russians, great numbers of Americans, great numbers of Englishmen, Frenchmen, Italians, Chinese, Indians and all the other nationalities discover that there are no bars to international friendship, except the bars of prejudice based on misinformation, that will be vastly more important than anything individual statesmen can hope to accomplish in their wildest dreams.

Hundred-Year Plan

Whoever sends the next budget message to congress recommending a financial plan for the government in the fiscal year starting next July 1, the gross public debt of the United States will be about 240 billion dollars. At the end of the year, it probably will have reached 300 billion dollars, about $2,200 for every man, woman and child, or $8,000 for the average family.

The annual carrying charge on a debt of that magnitude would be approximately six billion dollars a year, even at the present average interest rate of less than 2 per cent on government securities outstanding. The gross debt at the end of September was approximately 221 billion, having increased more than nine billion dollars since the beginning of the fiscal year last July. This increase, amounting to a rate of 36 billion a year, if maintained, represents roughly the amount of money spent by government over total receipts.

The Association of American Railroads has proposed a hundred-year plan to retire the debt, which could be done at the rate of three billion a year by raising $66.50 for that purpose per year from every American through taxation. It is an engrossing idea, because it reveals the magnitude of the financial burden which has resulted from deficit spending. A century would only begin to be enough time for the job, even if it could be continued for 100 continuous years without interruptions by wars or depressions. It required 35 years to retire a public debt of 83 million at the beginning of the 19th century. It required all the years from the end of the Civil war to the beginning of World War I to reduce the debt from two and eight-tenths billion to one billion, and from 1919 to 1929 to cut it from 26.6 billion to 16.9 billion under Republican administrations.

America's One-Hundred-Year plan looks like a Two-Hundred-Year plan before the first century's work even gets started.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, Oct. 14

IT IS PROBABLE that the interest, funds and concentrated resources and energies will be devoted to the pursuit of pleasure, or to social, artistic, domestic and affectional affairs rather than to workday objectives. In the latter there is need of caution in legal matters, in speculation as well as in any outlay of funds, even on business or personal extravagances. Popularity and prestige should be under auspices for success and happiness.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves enjoying a year in which the more pleasant and happier patterns of living engage their attention rather than prosaic or commonplace activities. The latter may have dangers through treachery, bad investments, extravagance or legal entanglements. Artistic, musical and literary ambitions are under encouraging rule, and there may be thrilling romantic, domestic or social pleasures and popularity.

A child born on this day may have many versatile creative skills and aspirations, enjoying more popularity and progress than financial returns.

The Proper Answer

By James Thrasher

A young woman customer in a Cambridge, Mass., restaurant fired a volley of crockery the other day which, if it wasn't heard throughout the land, certainly should have been.

Whether the volley was accidental or deliberate is a moot question which the court has yet to settle. But it came as the direct result of a question put to the customer by a waitress.

"Don't you know there's a war on?" the waitress had asked.

Those have become fighting words. And we think that anyone who has been asked them is devoutly hoping that the Cambridge customer's reaction was deliberate and that when the time comes the judge will give her a grateful nation's vote of thanks rather than a fine.

"Don't you know there's a war on?"

Those words are the only valid excuse for the suppression of free speech in wartime that we can think of. They form one of the most stupid rhetorical questions ever phrased. They are maddeningly unanswerable, like the use of "What do you say?" as a greeting. They are inane, inept, inexcusable.

In the case of the young lady from Cambridge, they are also insulting. She knows there's a war on. She has three brothers and a fiancée in the service. A cousin was killed on Guadalcanal. She herself is a seven-time blood donor. And her subversive act which called forth the waitress' taunting question was a request for squash instead of potatoes on the blue plate lunch.

But back of those words. In a lesser measure they are an insult to anyone to whom they are addressed. They proclaim that the questioner thinks so little of your intelligence as to believe that you can be struck speechless and demolished by such a threadbare cliché. They express the doubt that your feeble understanding could comprehend any more pertinent or persuasive appeal for self-sacrifice and forbearance.

And of course they imply that the questioner is a paragon of patriotism. That is probably the least endurable thing about them. For usually this question is offered as an unassailable excuse for the absence of courtesy, good manners or good temper, none of which qualities has yet been frozen.

So something like that opening volley of chinaware from Paul Revere's old neighborhood was bound to happen. The only wonder is that it hasn't happened sooner, oftener and more violently. Or maybe it has, and we just didn't hear about it.

Anyway, we're all for it. And we think the practice might be adopted more generally.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The White Blood Cells

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
YESTERDAY we discussed anemia which is the disorder of the red cells of the blood. And we explained why our knowledge of them and ability to find out their condition is so exact. But there is another kind of cell in the blood, the white cell, which we will discuss today.

Dr. Clendenening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

My friend, Dr. Russell Haden, of Cleveland, says the red blood cell is the most interesting cell in the body. I think he says this because the red cell is the only cell in the body which does not have a nucleus. It can never divide and multiply. And Russell is a kind-hearted gink and the thought of this poor little cell deprived of its natural heritage and never to have the prospect of raising a family just draws all his sympathy out for it.

To me the most interesting cell in the body is the white blood cell. Our means of studying it are just as accurate as those for studying the red cell. We can count how many white cells there are in a given amount (a cubic millimeter) of blood. We do it in the same way and by the same beautifully ruled microscopic counting chamber under the microscope as we use for counting the red cells.

Number of White Cells

And, as in the case of the red cells which number six million cells per cubic millimeter, the white cells in health in young and old, male and female, remain with remarkable constancy at about five thousand per cubic millimeter.

However, they respond far more delicately than the red cells to upsets in bodily conditions. Then other names are the phagocytes, or scavengers of the body, because their prime duty is to engulf and destroy any invading germs. In doing this they usually are destroyed themselves and they are constantly dying on the barricades and outer defenses of the body—and on the surface of the membranes of the nose and mouth and conjunctiva of the eye and all along the intestinal tract. The daily mortality of the entire body is several million a day and these have to be replaced, so the manufacturing centers of the white blood cells—the bone marrow and the lymph nodes—are kept busy filling the ranks of the lost battalions.

Since these white cells fight invasion and infection of the body by bacteria, whenever a severe infection occurs they are increased in number. And since we can count them so accurately, and estimate the increase to an accurate figure, this estimate is of great diagnostic help in determining whether an inner concealed infection is the cause of certain symptoms or not. In appendicitis, for instance, the leucocyte count is of great diagnostic value. Also in pneumonia. The condition of increased leucocytes in the circulating blood is called leucocytosis.

In some infections for reasons which we do not really understand at all, there is no increase in the leucocytes—no leucocyte response. Notable in this group is typhoid fever and our more frequent modern equivalent for it—undulant fever. Also measles. A reason commonly advanced for this is that in these diseases there is no putrefaction and a leucocytosis means pus, or pus infection. But in estimation some of the highest leucocyte counts we get are often found in whooping cough when it may go to 100,000. And whooping cough is not a pus former.

Another set of diseases in which the white cell count goes very high are the leukemias. These are diseases of the blood forming tissues—the bone marrow, or the lymph nodes. They are treated by treating the marrow or nodes with X-ray and by administering arsenic.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. W. A.:—Since carbon dioxide is a waste product in the human body and is thrown off why should we drink the gas in carbonated water? Will it do any harm?

A.: The amount of carbon dioxide consumed in carbonated drinks is extremely small compared to the amount we consume in our food, or rather that results from the oxygenation of carbon in our food. Carbon dioxide is, it is true, thrown off from the body, but it is also used while in the blood to maintain the neutralization level of the blood.

F. M. L.:—What is meant by getting "kicking back" after a pointer operation two years ago?

Answer: Goiter operations do not remove all the thyroid tissue in most instances, and even a small remnant may start activity again.

E. Z. Little Rock, Ark.:—After the age of forty is it better to keep a little underweight or a little overweight?

A.: Emerson is responsible for the statement that after that age mortality increases one per cent for every pound of overweight. An old Scotch proverb avers—"If ye wad live long, keep a wee bit punny." And Gellie Burgess thought "eating should be an art, not an industry." Also Cornaro said—"The food we eat does not do us as much good as the food from which we abstain."

L. L.:—Would chewing tobacco every day in the year cause heart trouble or have any bad effect?

Answer: Chewing tobacco is surely more deleterious to health than smoking tobacco. It causes chronic indigestion, keeps the weight down and makes the heart skip.

W. L.:—Has anyone ever been cured of diabetes by taking insulin? What does insulin come from?

Answer: Not cured, but so long as the insulin is taken it controls the diabetes. Insulin is extracted from the pancreas. Diabetes is caused by the disappearance of certain cells in the pancreas.

Beauties' Hints Extend Cosmetics With This Star's Thrifty Tricks

ARLENE FRANCIS: Thrifty.

You'll be able to drain many more drops of usefulness out of a creamy lotion that seems to have vanished from a bottle, if you'll cap the bottle and immerse for a few minutes in a basin of hot water.

This thrifty practice—and some more that are worth emulating—come from radio's glamorous Arlene Francis, "Blind Date" emcee.

When you cake rouge wears down to a red ring, says Arlene, scratch it out of the groove of the box with a pin. It's good for several more applications.

Trickened nail polish that acts like gum on your brush can be made to flow and spread freely, Arlene reminds you, if you'll add a few drops of non-oily polish remover. But remember that she said "non-oily" polish remover.

Former President of Argentina Dead at 72

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13.—Dr. Ramon S. Castillo, 72, ousted by a military coup after rising to Argentina's presidency by an accident of fate, died last night.

Elected vice-president on a coalition ticket with Roberto M. Ortiz, whom he opposed on international affairs, Castillo was elevated to the higher office June 27, 1942, when the Argentine senate accepted resignation of Ortiz, then ailing and nearly blind. Actually, he had governed Argentina as vice president since July 3, 1940, when Ortiz took leave of absence.

Castillo imposed a policy of so-called prudent neutrality in World war 2.

Political complications arising from his policies led to a military coup which ousted him June 5, 1943.

Roses Cut During Afternoon Will Last Longer, Tests Show

(By United Press)
ITHACA, N. Y. — Scientific research has discovered a time-honored rule of gardeners — "cut your roses in the morning when the dew is on them."
Joseph E. Howland, Cornell University Horticulture Department assistant, says that it has been conclusively proved that roses cut in the afternoon last as much as 10 hours longer.
Heretofore housewives with only a single rosebush, and gardeners with many, have been brought up to observe religiously the rule that a rose is easier to pick roses in the morning. Literature in the field, too, has recommended the practice.
Howland, using more than 1,000 roses in more than a year of research, found that roses kept nearly eight hours longer when cut at 4:30 p. m. than when cut at 8 a. m. During the hot weather, the afternoon cutting increased the keeping time to nearly 10 hours longer. The explanation is that the leaves make sugar when the sun shines. The later in the day the stems are cut, the longer they should keep because of the sugar content, which is highest around 4:30 p. m.

Other Facts
The Cornell researcher also discovered that short-stemmed roses with only a few leaves keep just as long as long-stemmed ones with many leaves — debunking another time-honored rule.

The history of roses supports the new evidence. Howland pointed out that as early as 1308 French investigators discovered that the quality of cut flowers was not improved by any chemical used in water, unless it was used in combination with sugar. Even today florists sell "sugar powder" to prolong the life of roses, but up to now did not know why it worked.
Sugar alone cannot be used in the water because bacterial growth would be increased, and possibly plug water-conducting elements in the stem of the cut flower. A chemical which prevents rapid bacterial growth in the water must be used with the sugar. A large supply of sugar in the leaves and stems is one of the factors in preventing premature fall of the petals.
The Cornell investigator became interested in the rose problem through similar research on cutting hay. It was found that cutting hay in the late afternoon resulted in more hay of higher quality than when cut in the morning.

Waste Paper's Role In War Since D-Day Showed

NEW YORK — During the three months between "D" Day and September 6, 4,921,270 pounds of paper were converted into 13,238,661 containers for shipping artillery ammunition overseas, according to the American Can Company, a manufacturer of these "suits of armor" for shells.
Ammunition container board, one of the principal materials used, is made from mixed paper and old corrugated boxes. In the past three years manufacture of 145,689,611 artillery shell containers has used 259,944,027 pounds of paper, much of it salvaged by patriotic Americans.

One of the greatest delights in the life of Trix, the Brazilian ringtailed monkey seen above, is to act as a photographer's model, and he has posed for hundreds of novel pictures. He is the pet of little Annette Avers of Portage, Wis. At left, above, costumed in curly blond wig and sifon gown, he appears as "Miss Fiddle," the great virtuoso; at right, he is all wrapped up in one of his pals, Elmer, a four-foot fox snake, also a pet of Miss Avers. Below, Trix turns the tables, becomes a photographer, and snaps a picture of his mistress.

VERSATILE MASTER SERGEANT TAKES PASTORATE AFTER 25 YEARS IN ARMY

(By United Press)
FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan. — Master Sgt. John Hodge, a hand-call champion, ordained minister, amateur boxer, distance runner and assistant chaplain, recently was retired from the Army after almost 25 years of continuous service and will become pastor of a local church the Army has announced.

Hodge's Army career began in 1919 when he enlisted in the Army at Indianapolis, Ind., shortly after World War I. He was first stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for two months, and his next post station in the Army was Fort Leavenworth, where he spent over 14 years.

The wiry, friendly-faced soldier was retired by the Army because of "physical disability" incurred while in service.

At Fort Leavenworth, Hodge was assigned as steward of the officers' club, and helped build the club into one of the leading officers' clubs in the Army. In this connection, officials say, it may be said that he won the hearts of both officers and their families alike.

Knew Many Generals
"He never spared himself to see that all received the best service he could give," the Army said of Hodge, "and he can boast of a speaking acquaintance with hundreds of high-ranking officers, many of whom are outstanding generals."
Hodge has almost been an institution on the post since 1919. During his long service, he was an uplifting influence on many members of the post. For more than 25 years he was director of the religious education for the post Sunday school, a school for more than 200 children of officers and enlisted men. Meanwhile, he ably assisted the post chaplain with his services to the enlisted men and their families for nearly 16 years.

From 1929 to 1939 he conducted religious services for guardhouse prisoners each Sunday afternoon in the YMCA. When citizens' military training courses were held at the post, Hodge conducted Protestant services for the CMTC trainees.

In addition, the sergeant was a Bible class instructor and engaged in much hospital and charitable work.
Not all of Hodge's activities were confined to Fort Leavenworth, however. He held the pastorate of two local churches, the Round Prairie Community church for 16 years and the Easton Methodist church for eight years. Within the past year he took over an additional church, the Kickapoo, Kan. Methodist.

Set Six Mile Record
"No pastor could be loved or respected more than he has been by these congregations," Army officials said.
Hodge was always active in athletics, especially during his first years at Fort Leavenworth. He established a record in 1920 in a six-mile distance race, running the course in 32 minutes. This record was chalked up during a field day at the post, and so far as is known, has never been broken.

Hodge won the Kansas State single-wall handball championship in 1930 and successfully defended his title in 1931.

The versatile sergeant was also post light heavyweight boxing champion in 1921 and as boxing instructor had classes of nearly 200 men a year.

"In his retirement," officials say regretfully, "the Army will lose a good soldier, but the church will gain a servant and a leader."

Hodge has two daughters, Doris and Dorothy, both married to servicemen. He and his wife, Marie, will make their home in Leavenworth.

Kidnaping Sympathizer Takes Drug Overdose

DAYTON, Oct. 13. — A woman who took an overdose of sleeping tablets because of what police described as remorse over disappearance of 20-month-old Ronnie Thompson, lay in a hospital in coma today, but physicians expressed belief that she would recover.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elworth, 24, who until a few days before the baby's disappearance had shared an apartment with her mother, Mrs. Arthur C. Thompson, was found unconscious in a bedroom after she returned to sympathize with the mother.

Beside her was an almost illegible note, reading:
"Dearest sweetheart: Maybe I am wrong, but my life may bring back Anna Mary's little baby. If I hadn't left this wouldn't have happened."

Detective Sergeant Russell Pfauhl said the note evidently was meant for Mrs. Elworth's sailor husband whom she married three months ago in Berkeley, Calif., and who now is at sea. Pfauhl said Mrs. Elworth had lived with Mrs. Thompson for some time, and that when she left the mother hired the nurse who Saturday took Ronnie and disappeared.

Mrs. Elworth then returned to live with Mrs. Thompson.

The abducted child's father is an army private now serving overseas.

Ohio Corn Harvest Is Off 17 Per Cent

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 13. — Ohio's corn harvest will be about 17 per cent below last year's figures and the Buckeye soy bean crop one-fourth smaller, the Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service said today.

The forecast for corn is 144,283,000 bushels, only 2 per cent less than the ten-year-average. Conditions as of Oct. 1 pointed to an average yield of 38 bushels an acre, compared with 48.5 bushels in 1943. Except for scattered localities in northern Ohio, no killing frosts were reported, and the crop was ripening in good shape, the report revealed.

The soybean yield varies widely this year, due largely to the heat and drought of mid-summer. An average yield of only 16 bushels an acre was in prospect, compared with 21 bushels in 1943. A yield of 21,056,000 bushels was anticipated, the report indicated, compared with 27.9 3,000 bushels last year.

During September prospects for larger buckwheat, tobacco and sugar beet crops were brightened by much-needed rains.

Fruit prospects were good. Commercial apple crops were expected to total 5,395,000 bushels, against 2,422,000 in 1943; peaches were forecast at 1,095,000 bushels, compared with 300,000 last year; pears 368,000 bushels against 173,000 last year and grapes 23,000 tons, compared with 17,900 last year.

Late rains failed to change materially the potato outlook. The forecast was for a crop of 6,084,000 bushels and a pre-acre yield of 78 bushels.

ARLENE FRANCIS: Thrifty.

You'll be able to drain many more drops of usefulness out of a creamy lotion that seems to have vanished from a bottle, if you'll cap the bottle and immerse for a few minutes in a basin of hot water.

This thrifty practice—and some more that are worth emulating—come from radio's glamorous Arlene Francis, "Blind Date" emcee.

When you cake rouge wears down to a red ring, says Arlene, scratch it out of the groove of the box with a pin. It's good for several more applications.

Thickened nail polish that acts like gum on your brush can be made to flow and spread freely, Arlene reminds you, if you'll add a few drops of non-oily polish remover. But remember that she said "non-oily" polish remover.

Former President of Argentina Dead at 72

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13.—Dr. Ramon S. Castillo, 72, ousted by a military coup after rising to Argentina's presidency by an accident of fate, died last night.

Elected vice-president on a coalition ticket with Roberto M. Ortiz, whom he opposed on international affairs, Castillo was elevated to the higher office June 27, 1942, when the Argentine senate accepted resignation of Ortiz, then ailing and nearly blind. Actually, he had governed Argentina as vice president since July 3, 1940, when Ortiz took leave of absence.

Castillo imposed a policy of so-called prudent neutrality in World war 2.

Political complications arising from his policies led to a military coup which ousted him June 5, 1943.

Roses Cut During Afternoon Will Last Longer, Tests Show

(By United Press)
ITHACA, N. Y. — Scientific research has disproved a time-honored rule of gardeners — "cut your roses in the morning when the dew is on them."
Joseph E. Howland, Cornell University Floriculture Department assistant, says that it has been conclusively proved that roses cut in the afternoon last as much as 10 hours longer.
Housewives with only a single rosebush, and gardeners with many, have been brought up to believe religiously the rule that it is better to pick roses in the morning. Literature in the field has recommended the practice. Howland, using more than 1,000 roses in more than a year of research, found that roses kept nearly eight hours longer when cut at 8 p. m. than when cut at 8 a. m. During the hot weather, the research cutting increased the keeping time to nearly 10 hours longer. The explanation is that the leaves make sugar when the sun shines. The later in the day the stems are cut, the longer they should keep because of the sugar content, which is highest around 4:30 p. m.

Other Facts
The Cornell researcher also discovered that short-stemmed roses with only a few leaves keep just as long as long-stemmed ones with many leaves — debunking another time-honored rule.

The history of roses supports the new evidence. Howland pointed out that as early as 1938 French investigators discovered that the quality of cut flower was not improved by any chemical used in water, unless it was used in combination with sugar. Even today florists sell "sugar powder" to prolong the life of roses, but up to now did not know why it worked.

Sugar alone cannot be used, it would be increased, and possibly plug water-conducting elements in the stem of the cut flower. A chemical which prevents rapid bacterial growth in the water must be used with the sugar. A large supply of sugar in the leaves and stems is one of the factors in preventing premature fall of the petals.
The Cornell investigator became interested in the rose problem through smaller research on cutting hay. It was found that cutting hay in the late afternoon resulted in more hay of higher quality than when cut in the morning.

Waste Paper's Role In War Since D-Day Shown

NEW YORK — During the three months between "D" Day and September 6, 4,921,270 pounds of paper were converted into 13,238,611 containers for shipping artillery ammunition overseas, according to the American Can Company, a manufacturer of these "sausages of armor" for shells.
Ammunition container board, one of the principal materials used, is made from mixed paper and old corrugated boxes. In the past three years manufacture of 145,629,511 artillery shell containers has used 299,544,027 pounds of paper much of it salvaged by patriotic Americans.

MONKEY LEADS A MODEL LIFE

One of the greatest delights in the life of Trix, the Brazilian ringtailed monkey seen above, is to act as a photographer's model, and he has posed for hundreds of novel pictures. He is the pet of little Annette Avers of Portage, Wis. At left, above, costumed in curly blond wig and silken gown, he appears as "Miss Fiddle," the great virtuoso; at right, he is all wrapped up in one of his pals, Elmer, a four-foot fox snake, also a pet of Miss Avers. Below, Trix turns the tables, becomes a photographer, and snaps a picture of his mistress.

VERSATILE MASTER SERGEANT TAKES PASTORATE AFTER 25 YEARS IN ARMY

(By United Press)
FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan. — Master Sgt. John Hodge, a hand-champion, ordained minister, amateur boxer, distance runner and assistant chaplain, recently was retired from the Army after almost 25 years of continuous service and will become pastor of a local church the Army has announced.

Hodge's Army career began in 1919 when he enlisted in the Army at Indianapolis, Ind., shortly after World War I. He was first stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for two months, and his next and last station in the Army was Fort Leavenworth, where he spent over 24 years.

The way, friendly-faced soldier was retired by the Army because of "physical disability" incurred while in service.

At Fort Leavenworth, Hodge was assigned as steward of the officers' club, and helped build the club into one of the leading officers' clubs in the Army. In this connection, officials say, it may be said that he won the hearts of both officers and their families alike.

Knew Many Generals
"He never spared himself to see that all received the best service he could give," the Army said of Hodge, "and he can boast of a speaking acquaintance with hundreds of high-ranking officers, many of whom are outstanding generals."

Hodge has almost been an institution on the post since 1919. During his long service, he was an uplifting influence on many members of the post. For more than 25 years he was director of the religious education for the post Sunday school, a school for more than 200 children of officers and enlisted men. Meanwhile, he ably assisted the post chaplain with his services to the enlisted men and their families for nearly 16 years.

From 1929 to 1939 he conducted religious services for guardhouse prisoners each Sunday afternoon in the YMCA. When citizens' military training courses were held at the post, Hodge conducted Protestant services for the CMTC trainees.

In addition, the sergeant was a Bible class instructor and engaged in much hospital and charitable work.

Not all of Hodge's activities were confined to Fort Leavenworth, however. He held the pastorate of two local churches, the Round Prairie Community church for 16 years and the Eastern Methodist church for eight years. Within the past year he took over an additional church, the Kickapoo, Kan. Methodist.

Set Six Mile Record
"No pastor could be loved or respected more than he has been by these congregations," Army officials said.

Hodge was always active in athletics, especially during his first years at Fort Leavenworth. He established a record in 1920 in a six-mile distance race, running the course in 32 minutes. This record was chalked up during a field day at the post, and so far as is known, has never been broken.

Hodge won the Kansas State single-wall handball championship in 1930 and successfully defended his title in 1931.

The versatile sergeant was also post light heavyweight boxing champion in 1921 and as boxing instructor had classes of nearly 200 men a year.

Kidnaping Sympathizer Takes Drug Overdose

DAYTON, Oct. 13. — A woman who took an overdose of sleeping tablets because of what police described as remorse over disappearance of 20-month-old Ronnie Thompson, lay in a hospital in coma today, but physicians expressed belief that she would recover.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elworth, 24, who until a few days before the baby's disappearance had shared an apartment with her mother, Mrs. Arthur C. Thompson, was found unconscious in a bedroom after she returned to sympathize with the mother.

Beside her was an almost illegible note, reading:
"Dearest sweetheart: Maybe I am wrong, but my life may bring back Anna Mary's little baby. If I hadn't left this wouldn't have happened."

Detective Sergeant Russell Pfauhl said the note evidently was meant for Mrs. Elworth's sailor husband whom she married three months ago in Berkeley, Calif., and who now is at sea. Pfauhl said Mrs. Elworth had lived with Mrs. Thompson for some time, and that when she left the mother hired the nurse who Saturday took Ronnie and disappeared.

Mrs. Elworth then returned to live with Mrs. Thompson.
The abducted child's father is an army private now serving overseas.

Ohio Corn Harvest Is Off 17 Per Cent

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 13. — Ohio's corn harvest will be about 17 per cent below last year's figures and the Buckeye soy bean crop one-fourth smaller, the Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service said today.

The forecast for corn is 144,285,000 bushels, only 2 per cent less than the ten-year-average. Conditions as of Oct. 1 pointed to an average yield of 38 bushels an acre, compared with 49.5 bushels in 1943.

Except for scattered localities in northern Ohio, no killing frosts were reported, and the crop was ripening in good shape, the report revealed.

The soybean yield varies widely this year, due largely to the heat and drought of mid-summer. An average yield of only 16 bushels an acre was in prospect, compared with 21 bushels in 1943. A yield of 21,056,000 bushels was anticipated, the report indicated, compared with 27.8, 3,000 bushels last year.

During September prospects for larger buckwheat, tobacco and sugar beet crops were brightened by much-needed rains.

Fruit prospects were good. Commercial apple crops were expected to total 5,395,000 bushels, against 2,422,000 in 1943; peaches were forecast at 1,095,000 bushels, compared with 300,000 last year; pears 368,000 bushels against 173,000 last year and grapes 23,000 tons, compared with 17,900 last year.

Late rains failed to change materially the potato outlook. The forecast was for a crop of 6,084,000 bushels and a pre-acre yield of 78 bushels.

The springs at Bath, England, were the center of a Roman resort city developed during the first four centuries A. D.

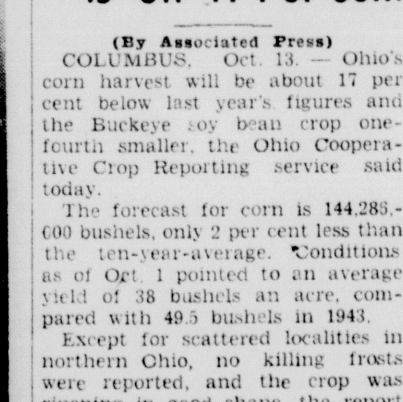

Madras, on the eastern coast of India, was the first territorial possession of the British East India company.

Held In Kidnaping

Authorities in Detroit hold Mrs. Eleanor Smith, a Negro, above, in connection with the kidnaping of four-month-old Robert King, a white child, who was taken from his home 10 days ago. The child, identified by the parents as being Robert, was found with a sun-tan solution covering his body, in the Smith home, according to authorities. Mrs. Smith apparently was attempting to delude her husband into believing the child was hers.

SANDUSKY, Oct. 13.—The American Lutheran church adopted a proposal yesterday to raise $1,500,000 for erection of new buildings and purchase of equipment at the church's five colleges and seminaries in the postwar period.

The delegates at the fourth day of a biennial meeting also considered problems of cooperation with other religious groups and the development of a charitable department.

Dr. W. G. Sott of Milwaukee, Wis., was elected the organization's first vice president. Dr. H. L. Yochum, Detroit, Mich., second; Dr. E. A. Walke, St. Paul, Minn., third; Dr. E. J. If, by this time, there's anyone in these United States who doesn't comprehend the tremendous consumption of tires in combat, the Army Signal Corps photo above should do the trick. It shows U.S. Army tires, 90 per cent of them damaged in action, awaiting repair at just one of the Ordnance Depots in France. Inset shows ordnance sergeant examining some of the rubber casualties.

NEW CARS

$100 on the side, or should it be to someone like a doctor who really needs it?

How much will the new cars cost? They'll hardly cost less than those sold in 1942.

But will they cost more?

This is another point on which the automobile men do not agree. Some say yes, some say no. OPA says there may be no increase. OPA will do the price-fixing.

New car prices in 1942, one government source says, generally were about 15 per cent higher than 1941. But a car which might have cost $900 in 1941 would have cost $1,000 in 1942.

There have been reports that new car prices might be even 25 per cent higher than 1942. Bowles denies this will happen. But even if they were only 15 per cent higher, then the same $900 car in 1941, the one which went to $1,000 in 1942, would reach $1,125 after the war with Germany.

Reasons Obvious.

Any reason why there shouldn't be an increase?

The obvious one, of course, is that the new ones are as cheaply as the old war cars—allowing for their increase in 1942—then there should be an uprise.

Bowles: Manufacturers don't want their cars to get out of their established price line. Otherwise a car which built up a mass market before the war by being cheap, would find itself up in the bracket of the smaller market.

With the smaller market, why there should be an increase.

The first problem is wages. Before the end of the war with Germany and the time the first post-war rally off the assembly line, undoubtedly the nation's wage structure will have been changed. And that change will be one of the big factors in OPA's decision on the price of new cars.

Reaffirm Ruling In Soldier Vote Case

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 13.—State election officials today reaffirmed Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert's opinion that the Ohio law does not permit counting of ballots cast by servicemen who are officially reported dead, before the polls open for the Nov. 7 presidential, state, district and county election.

Ballots cast by soldiers, sailors, Marines and others in the armed forces who are reported "missing in action" will be tabulated, however, as an official report to this effect is not considered proof of death.

Official notification of death, received by the War or Navy departments, or any other official agency, should, in all cases, be considered sufficient proof of death within the meaning of the law, Herbert said. Likewise, notification by a relative should be considered sufficient.

Only 3,100, or less than 30 per cent of Columbiana county's 10,000 men and women in the armed forces have applied for ballots, while 1,388 identification envelopes, containing marked ballots, or 44 per cent of the total issued, have been returned for delivery to precinct voting places on election day.

None of Columbiana county's war veterans so far has been reported dead.

McPherson Will Leave Temple Rule In Doubt

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—The will of Evangelist Aimee Temple McPherson disposes of personal property valued at less than $10,000 to her relatives and makes no provision for her son to succeed her as head of Angelus Temple, her former said today.

The will was scheduled to be filed today.

At the same time the evangelist's daughter, Mrs. Roberta Salter, long at odds with her mother, announced that she would not contest the provisions of the will.

Military Orders and Paper Shortage Are Blamed For Cigarette Scarcity

Despite his injuries, a soldier rescued in France clutches his precious carton of cigarettes. Military orders have priority over civilian needs.

WASHINGTON — No immediate relief for chain smokers champing at the bit because of their favorite brands is foreseen by tobacco experts. Two factors are responsible: huge military orders and the critical shortage of paper.

Supplies at tobacconists' shops are at a new low because of the shopping big August orders for front-line troops. Department of Commerce and War Food Administration authorities report.

Some trade journals are predicting an even worse shortage after the European war's end, with increased supplies going to occupied countries. Also, Americans at home and abroad smoked 25 per cent more cigarettes in 1943 than in 1941.

Long Paper Shortage

Shipping cartons may long be a bottleneck. War Production board was warned that the general paper shortage won't clear up for a year after the war. Cartons will be going to the Pacific area in greater numbers. Civilian smokers get a low rating in the general lineup for short carton material.

AACHEN

streets of Meizeries Les Metz. The remainder of the Third army front including the strange, underground battle for Fort Driant, was unchanged, a field dispatch said.

Hold Air Superiority

The overwhelming Allied air superiority was used in the heightening battles of the north. The Allied communiqué said:

"Aachen was divebombed and strafed yesterday by hundreds of fighter bombers."

Earlier German counter-thrusts from the east in the vicinity of Verlautenheide and Haaren were repulsed by American artillery. Bitter fighting continued, however, both at Haaren and Wurselen.

One front dispatch said German armor in strength was seen plunging down "Hell's Highway," the narrow gap between the American forces northeast of the city. This stirred expectation of a major tank battle.

Earlier, American fighter bombers spotted Nazi tanks crunched toward Aachen and attacked them in a wood where they went into hiding.

The Canadians captured the village of Biesen near the Leopold canal and repelled a German counter-attack north of the great Belgian port of Antwerp. Until the scheduled Estuary has been cleared, Antwerp—second largest port in all Europe—cannot be used by the Allies to supply and power their attack into Germany.

Gave Nazis Terms

LT. WILLIAM BOEHME, 35-year-old New Yorker of German-American parentage, was one of three Yanks who carried the surrender terms to the Germans at Aachen, besieged German city. Boehme and the others were blindfolded by the Nazis before they were taken to the command post.

Dog Collar

SMARTEST jewelry accessory of the season is the dog collar. If you can't find one to harmonize with your new fall outfit, try your hand at making your own. The chic choker of classic gold lacquered button originals above, with earrings to match, is one of the easiest versions to make. To copy, select nine buttons of a dramatic design in a color to accent your costume. Then sew or paste the buttons on a piece of circularly cut felt to fit your neck. Tie together with a velvet bow in back.

should remove government machinery from the plant or sell it to the manufacturer, remove all unnecessary inventory, and pay the contractor at that the government owes him.

Finally, Taft asked the government to "eliminate any bureaucrats who regard every business man as a crook, and put those in the propose to encourage small business and big business, new business and allow business to move ahead with confidence."

Wallace predicted that unemployment would be a "tremendous shock" with large-scale cutbacks but added that America had the skill, technology, and resources to produce 50 per cent more peacetime goods than it ever used.

Seven million automobiles a year could be used, he said, if manufacturers did not "cut off their own noses" by cutting wages.

With State Candidates

State candidates confined themselves largely to carrying into new territories messages already given elsewhere.

William Pickrel, Democratic candidate for Taft's job, told gatherings in Covington, Troy, Piqua, Urbana, St. Paris, and Springfield that Taft had done "scheming and conniving" to prevent soldier voting and added:

"He also introduced a bill which would have dictated the kind of literature they (service men) could read."

Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, Democratic nominee for governor, told a Salem rally that Ed D. Schorr, Republican state chairman, had blocked proposed legislation to curb allegedly destructive strip mining practices which he said had "brutally butchered and devastated the soil and vegetation."

Lausche also said in East Liverpool:

"It is my plan that the state of Ohio will proceed with a program of intelligent treatment and proper housing of the mentally ill and criminally sick."

His opponent, Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, continued hammering on his declaration that Lausche was the "New Deal candidate."

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

NOW, with Italy out cold and Hitlerland hanging on the ropes, the generalissimo would seem to be dependent on his own resources—and they're slim. The Republicans certainly must be hoping that this time they will have great assistance from Russian sources, in view of the Moscow radio's urgent call for rebellion.

When Franco took over the country in 1939, after nearly three years of war, the devastation was terrific. There was a great shortage of raw materials and manufactured goods. The country's finances were in chaos. Naturally, with a World War raging about him, he hasn't had much chance for recovery. He certainly isn't prepared to embark on another conflict.

Franco's position may be complicated by the fact that throughout most of the European war he has given his moral and material support to his friends, Hitler and Mussolini. His attitude has caused difficulties with Washington and London, both of whom have protested repeatedly against numerous violations of neutrality, including shipment of vital war materials to Germany and allowing Axis agents to operate from Spanish territory. Moscow also more than once pointed out grimly that Spanish soldiers were fighting among German forces against Russia.

Early this year Washington put the screws on Franco by temporarily suspending oil shipments to him from the Caribbean area. This, perhaps coupled with the falling fortunes of Fuehrer Hitler, seemed to have a salutary effect, for relations between Madrid and the Anglo-American Allies have been easier of late.

We can't close our article without this note: Spain isn't by any means the only European country threatened with political upheaval. The World War has bred many similar situations.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

SPA, Belgium, Oct. 10—(Delayed) Pvt. Leland Holland stretched luxuriously on the cushioned comfort of the massive white bed once used by the late Kaiser Wilhelm and sighed.

"If I could only get this thing inside my pup tent," the 20-year-old Baltimorean flopped on the bed, big enough to hold four persons, during a sightseeing trip through the 27-room mansion where the Kaiser lived in 1918 when the German army's general headquarters moved to SPA to steer the last great West offensive.

Holland wasn't overly-impressed with the mansion.

"It only has 27 rooms," he said. "I've got a friend back home who lives in a 28-room house."

The Kaiser's private suite consisted of a dressing room, sitting room, bedroom, private bath and shower, and a small terrace on the second floor. An old bureau and other articles of furniture used by the Kaiser still are there, and this quaintly appropriate inscription in French is above the fireplace:

"Fine feathers make fine birds."

Enroute to the mansion, Holland hardly noticed the grey-painted Hotel Britannique, where the German headquarters staff planned attacks. Ludendorff resigned in the hotel conference room, Oct. 26, 1918, and it was there, too, a fortnight later that the Kaiser learned from Von Hindenburg the bad news which led him to flee to Holland and abdicate.

On Forested Hillside
The mansion stands on a forested hillside with a view of beautiful stretches of pasture and woodland. Two middle-aged caretakers—Monsieur and Madame Charles Tibert—welcomed Holland, told him the house was built by a member of the Belgian parliament, who left it, upon his death after the last war, to a children's home. Madame Tibert explained:

"We turned the lounge in which the Kaiser used to confer with his generals into a dining room for ailing children and they used it until they were taken away because of the danger of bombing."

Holland was led into the Kaiser's private concrete and steel air raid shelter in the basement. He noted it was covered with only four to six feet of earth.

"It wouldn't do the old boy much good if a modern bomb hit his hide-out," Holland commented.

Led through a secret escape route to a rose garden, Holland remarked: "I think he must have been afraid something more than bombs was after him to build a place like this."

Before Holland left, the Tiberts gave him two bowls of hot soup in the kitchen and recounted their memories of the Kaiser and Ludendorff. Their favorite story was that of a small Belgian boy who joined the lineup of a German guard being reviewed, and aped their stiff motions to the Kaiser's amusement. When the German ruler bent to ask the boy why he wanted to be a soldier, the lad answered:

"So I can kill Boche."

New Chemical Makes Sea Water Drinkable

WORCESTER, Mass.—A new chemical which removes the salt from sea water and makes it drinkable was demonstrated here recently by the Permutit Co. before the New England Sewage Works Assn.

The chemical is in briquets the size of a small candy bar. Enough of them can be carried by a flier to provide 14 days of drinking water. A briquet is dropped into a plastic bag filled with sea water and within 20 minutes it has precipitated the salt, which is filtered out as the flier sucks the water through a plastic tube.

Permutit plants are now engaged in producing kits for the 200,000 life rafts which form part of the equipment in the knock-down fight with Japan.

LABORATORY TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

DENTAL TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

MEDICAL TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

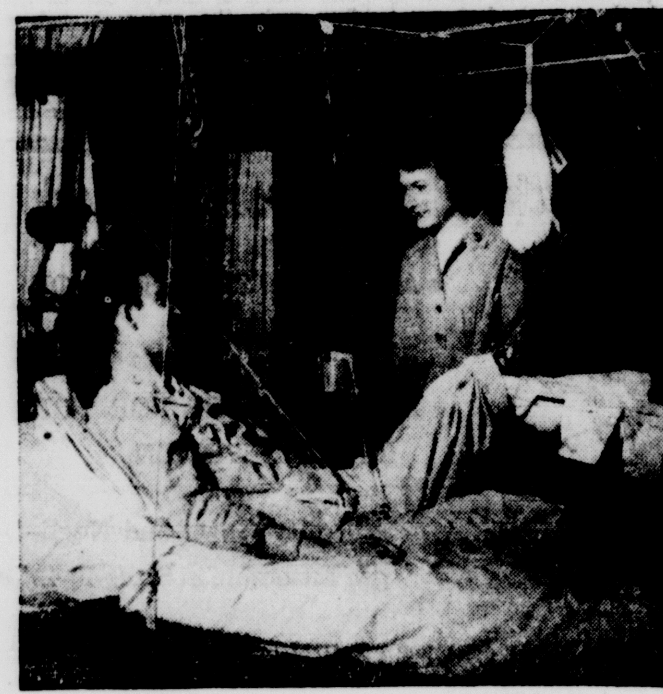

X-RAY TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

MEDICAL STENOGRAPHERS NEEDED!

PSYCHIATRIC SOCIAL WORKERS AND ASSISTANTS NEEDED!

SURGICAL TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

This is the situation:

In this gigantic world-wide war of liberation . . .

CASUALTIES ARE GREAT—AND WILL BE GREATER.

The flow of wounded into America is almost unceasing. Convoys of gallant men, suffering agonies of body and mind, are coming home.

We owe our lives, our freedom, to these men . . .

But above all, we owe them a fighting chance to live fully again, as they so richly deserve. Free from pain and horror.

To help give them this chance, the Army needs 22,000 technically trained women

Today, there is a great need for more trained medical technicians in U. S. Army hospitals in this country.

The wards and surgeries and laboratories are in need of qualified women technicians . . . so that the men may be sent out to staff base hospitals and outpost medical units — overseas.

As Wacs, you can replace these technicians. You can help wounded boys get well faster.

Thousands of laboratory tests must be made. Blood counts taken and analyzed. Penicillin and blood plasma prepared. The course of disease and infection watched with faithful care.

There must be more help in the surgeries. In the wards. Teaching, reconditioning. Helping broken men to regain their strength and hope.

Women of this is your opportunity to serve

Not only to help and comfort men who have risked death and torture for you . . .

Not only to lend your infinite woman's compassion, your soothing voice, and understanding heart . . .

But to put your own fine training and knowledge to glorious use in the Army of the United States.

Here every rare and common disease is diagnosed and tended.

Here Tomorrow's scientific wonders are making men well again. Here incredible New World equipment is being put to practical use.

You will work with it all. You will gain rich, on-the-job experience that cannot help but broaden your own postwar horizons.

Women of this is your glory, too

Only those women who have helped men undertake the work of war can ever really understand what freedom means.

Only they can truly share the fruits of victory — and the honor and the glory — with the men who fought war the hard, dirty, bloody way.

Women of

if you can qualify —

Breach of Promise

by RUPERT HUGHES

XII
Seeing that Walt's spirit of adventure had died a-borning, Mrs. Drummond lost interest in him. As he came to lose in his wife. As she could break free, she went out for the pool.

Walt hung back, waiting for Margaret's abuse. Instead, she stared at him as if she were agnash with her.

"Go on," she muttered. "Go on, take your swim."

"I'd rather be with you, honey. I'll get back into my other clothes. You wait for me."

"Go on and have your swim. I tell you," she seemed to scream in a whisper. But he insisted:

"Wait for me."

He hurried back to the locker room, undressed, and redressed as fast as he could. When he returned he could not find her anywhere. He saw Mrs. Drummond jump out of the pool and stand on the ledge. In her glistening wet bathing suit she looked from a distance to be a masterpiece of naked sculpture.

Jennifer came to him running and more than ever like the Margaret he had known in the days when they had gone swimming together. Jennifer was panting with terror.

"What's happened to mother?" "I can't find her."

"I saw her with you and Mrs. Drummond on the steps and she stood there till a taxicab brought somebody to the club. Then she got in it and drove away. She acted as if she were trying to keep from crying."

"Where could she have gone, in God's name?"

"Home, of course. Where else?"

He hurried to his car and drove as fast as he dared. When he reached the house he braced himself for the bare of the radio. The place was silent as a tomb. Margaret was not to be seen. He ran upstairs, his heart bursting with the dread that she had done something desperate.

He found her in her room, in front of her tall mirror! She was striking attitudes, and comparing herself with what was apparently a photograph in her hand!

He was about to turn away in disgust with himself and her when she caught sight of him in the looking glass. She whirled, called his name in a strange voice out of the old time.

"Walter! Walter!"

Her eyes were pools of tears. She clung her arms about him as if she were drowning, and hid her face from him by holding him close—as close as she could nowadays. And she poured out her heart in a panic of fear that made her young again as only fear can.

"This afternoon when I was standing there on one side of you, and that woman—that beautiful Mrs. Drummond—was on the other side of you, it was like I'd been struck by lightning. She's had three children and she looks like she might be one of mine. She was so trim and smart and carried herself so well and knew what to say and—oh, I understand why she's taken you away from me."

She smothered his answer with her fat arm about his neck and across his mouth.

"I'm not blaming you. I wonder you've stood me as long as you have. I haven't been the wife I promised to be. It's too late to get back, but I'm going to try to get back to myself. It will take a long time, but I'm going to starve my body and feed my mind. You take your Mrs. Drummond and forget me. I'll go away somewhere where I won't be a dead weight on you."

That Mrs. Drummond gave me such a scare I came home to see just what I really looked like. In the mirror I saw myself just now as what I am.

"I remembered that photograph you've always kept and what I wrote on it. To My Beloved, from his faithful wife! But I haven't been faithful. What happened to what I was, Walt? Where did I go? I feel as if I had been asleep for years, and just woke up. No wonder you stopped loving me. Poor Walter! Poor me!"

Unbelieving he held her away so that he could look into her eyes. She was so ashamed of her face, all blubbered and briny, that she tried to hide it again. But he found in her terror and her helplessness something that he had looked for long in vain. In his heart the old love welled up again. He was pleading with her now:

"I haven't stopped loving you, honey. Mrs. Drummond's pretty; she's smart. What of it? So are millions of others. But you're mine, and I'm yours, and we're ours, now and forever, one and inseparable."

She laughed hysterically. "That last was by Noah Webster, wasn't it? Or was it in the Constitution? Oh, dear, I used to read and study and talk to you. Do you suppose—Oh, Walter, Walter, help me! Wait for me. Find me some primers about What Every Old Wife Ought to Know. Do you suppose I could some day go round the links again with you? And—and—of, my beloved!"

Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

Suddenly the whole world as a new place. His bride was struggling to throw off the spell the old witch of time had cast upon her. She was already returning to him to redeem her life and his own.

Promises that are broken may be redeemed, and hearts that are broken can grow together again. Margaret had thought she was scared to death. But she had been scared back to life.

Before long she was smiling again and that was better than laughing. A little later she was saying:

"We owe the Beckley's a dinner. I'm afraid they got the impression that we didn't love each other. I'd like to have them over some night soon and show them that they don't know what marriage really means."

Destroy Destroyer

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Three games of the Little World Series at Baltimore drew 95,832 cash customers—52,833 Monday night. This probably explains why Baltimore figures prominently in post-war sports plans. Three or four rival groups want to put pro football teams into the Maryland city. There's talk of rebuilding the burned Orioles' ball park on a major league scale and latest indications are that Baltimore's hockey promoters have big league ideas. Howell Picks Winners On Nation's Games, Harrison Predicts Ohio's Victors

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Despite today's "Friday the 13th" jinx, our luck can't be much worse than it was a week ago when an even dozen of 41 football games didn't finish the way we thought they would.

Anyway, using the dope sheets and the record, instead of a crystal ball and coin-flips, here's how we see this week's top-flight football encounters:

Notre Dame-Dartmouth: The Irish are too big, too fast and too many. Notre Dame.

Pittsburgh-Army: Army—going away.

Ohio State-Wisconsin: The Bucks will generate plenty of steam on that home town drinking water they're taking along. Ohio State.

Purdue-Iowa Seahawks: A new daughter, born to Coach and Mrs. Cecil Isbell yesterday, gives Purdue the chance to "win one for the kid."

The Butlermakers.

Western Michigan-Great Lakes: Just a breeze for the sailors of Coach Paul Brown. Great Lakes.

Yale Over Columbia

North Carolina-Cherry Point Marines: The Carolina boys will have the Marines well in hand. North Carolina.

Georgia-Kentucky (Friday): It might be close. Georgia.

Columbia-Yale: Both undefeated, but Yale will win this one.

Minnesota-Missouri: On the rebound from the loss to Michigan. Minnesota.

William and Mary-Penn: This looks like a set-up. Penn.

Duke-Navy: The Middies appear strong. Navy.

Georgia Tech-Auburn: The Rambling Wrecks are tuned up. Tech.

Kansas-Iowa State: Kansas can't get through those tall corn boys. Iowa State.

California-Pacific: It's California.

Iowa-Illinois: Bounding back from the loss to Purdue-Illinois.

Northwestern-Michigan: Great Lakes softened up the Wildcats. So it's Michigan.

A few last ones. Indiana over Nebraska; Cornell over Colgate; Syracuse over Lafayette.

Kenyon at Capital—"I quit," said the crystal ball. "Don't look at me," said the man at the next desk. That left only the coin trick and it came up Kenyon. (P. S.: Don't bet too much on it.)

Rochester at Oberlin—Rochester has tried twice and failed against Ohio schools but the third time will be the charm.

Otterbein at Wayne—A vote goes to Mr. Paul Davis to make Otterbein happy and Wayne unhappy.

DISTRICT GAMES INVOLVE EIGHT TEAMS TONIGHT

Besides Salem Clash, Four Other Sectional Contests Are Scheduled

When the Salem Quakers and the Wellsville Bengals square off for battle at Reilly stadium at 7:45 tonight, four other district games will involve eight sectional teams in scholastic grid battles.

East Liverpool's Pottery meet a weak but hopeful Midland, Pa., machine at Patterson field in the pottery city tonight.

Alliance's improved Aviators, seeking their first win in 12 years over a Massillon crew, will take off at Mount Union stadium tonight for a taste of victory against the Tiger aggregation. Alliance fans are expectant and Massillon fans confident—so all in all a good battle, a big crowd and plenty of fireworks can be expected.

Gorby Against Newell

The East Palestine Bulldogs will meet Newell, W. Va., under the lights in East Palestine.

Struthers' improving Big Red squad will entertain Youngstown's Woodrow Wilson in Struthers tonight. The fro is an even one, with the Big Red rating a slight edge.

Coach Ray Hodge's boys are due here next week.

Lisbon and Sebring—two Tri-County league cellar-dwellers out for their first victories, play in Sebring tonight. George Stanford's Trojans haven't picked up a win as yet and neither have the charges of Robert Rutter.

The same set-up was in evidence last year when the two met and the muddy battle ended without a score.

Kenyon at Capital—"I quit," said the crystal ball. "Don't look at me," said the man at the next desk. That left only the coin trick and it came up Kenyon. (P. S.: Don't bet too much on it.)

Leetonia Heavy Favorite As Two Unbeaten Rivals Meet At Firestone Park

With both teams primed and ready, nearly all the tickets gone and school spirits at a bursting point, Leetonia's Blue and White gridiron machine and the unbeaten Columbiana Clippers are set for their annual duel at Columbiana's Firestone park stadium at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Columbiana is rated underdog in the test in spite of an unblemished record. The Clippers pounded Lisbon 19-0 in their first try and later downed Louisville, 26-0, in another Tri-County league fray. In their third game, Columbiana white-washed Minerva 12-0, and last week defeated Canfield, 45-0.

Leetonia has defeated Canfield, McDonald and Salem and was tied by East Palestine, 19-19, in the opener. Canfield fell 38-0, before the Leetonia onslaught and McDonald went down 41-7. Salem suffered an upset, 7-6, last week and sent Leetonia stock sailing sky-high.

Comparatively the two teams look about equal, but the Leetonians have the edge by virtue of spirited win over Salem.

In scoring the two are nearly equal. Columbiana having tallied 102 points and Letonia 105. Definitely the Clippers are more potent. No one has crossed the Clipper line while Leetonia has been scored on to the extent of 32 points in four games.

Coach John Cabas, in his first season at Columbiana, intends to start his regular group of veterans. His team, he says, is in good shape for the battle. All the pep and the needed power are there in claims.

At the ends, Cabas will start
